Homeless Hounds Animal Rescue

Rescuing and rehoming at-risk companion animals

Whether you're a dog person or a cat person, animals can be our best friends.

We take them on walks, hikes and road trips, we spoil them with our food under the dinner table, we treat them as a part of the family. However, for one reason or another, there are many at-risk dogs, cats and other animals that end up in shelters, pounds and worse.

These reasons can include:

- Economic hardship
- Domestic violence
- Puppy farms no longer having a use for this animal
- Illegal dog fighting rings

Not-for-profit animal rescue groups like Homeless Hounds Animal Rescue exist to rescue these animals from terrible situations or from being euthanised, and re-home them into a loving, forever home.

We provide services that include:

- A large network of volunteer foster carers to temporarily house these animals while a forever family is found for them
- A dedicated volunteer support team that assist with transporting these animals
- An expert team of volunteer adoption coordinators who will help find the right home for the right animal
- Access to experienced veterinarians and trainers to support foster carers, adopters and their animals through this process
